

The Annual Fiesta Kibrahacha is Coming this Sunday!!

An event not to be missed is the annual bazaar of the Centro Kibrahacha that will take place this Sunday, November 6, at their facility in Piedra Plat. The center, which provides activities, holiday parties, classes and social interaction for Aruba's elderly is having its annual fundraising event, and like every year it will provide fun, food and great bargains for all the family.

Centro Kibrahacha was established in 1985, and is funded for the most part by donations from the Rotary Club and other service organizations. Their annual fundraising bazaar is important for their vital work, which provides a place for the island's retirees of ages 60+ to go to keep active. The many holiday events they sponsor and handicraft classes and workshops conducted help Aruba's honored "oldsters" to maintain their mental acuity, socialize with friends, and gives quality to their "golden years." The center now boasts 257 active members, attending on a nearly daily basis the various activities that keep them young and vital. Sunday's bazaar will feature many of the fruits of these classes, with a variety of items, in particular Christmas decoration that have been crafted by the center's clientele. There will be clothes for sale, toys, souvenirs, faux flower arrangements, and fresh plants. There will be bargains in the mini-market on canned goods and sundry items, and fresh made snacks and sweets will be sold from the kitchen. There will be a bar, live music, dancing, and a wide variety of games for children that will keep the entire family entertained all through the day. A new addition to the bazaar will be a sale table of computer items and electronics, so the technologically-minded will also find some great deals there.

The funds raised from Sunday's bazaar will also finance the annual Christmas party that Centro Kibrahacha holds for its clients, many who do not have family with which to share the holiday. For them, the volunteers, staff, and other clients of Kibrahacha are the only family they know, now.

All the island residents and visitors are welcome and encouraged to come to the center in Piedra Plat to eat, drink, dance, play, and shop, and enjoy the charming surroundings for the day on Sunday. Administrators and organizers Lufrido Croes, President of the Board and Kibrahacha Director Diana Uchtman also request that any vendors interested in making donations in the form of cash or goods for sale contact them, and individuals also. For more information, contact Diane at telephone # 582-8159.

We will see you at Fiesta Kibrahacha on Sunday!
